

ATTACHMENT A: Abstract of the Disclosure as AmendedAbstract of the Disclosure

A magnet mount for at least one magnet includes a carrier element and at least one restraining element. The restraining element is formed as a single piece with the carrier element. The restraining element preferably is formed simply and cost-effectively as a projection protruding from the carrier element.